Report on Career Counselling Programme on Scope of Botany in the field of Forensic Biology and DNA fingerprinting

by Dr. Sunukumar S.S.

Introduction

PG & Research Department of Botany, Mahatma Gandhi College, organised a career counselling programme on 'Scope of Botany in the Field of Forensic Biology and DNA Fingerprinting' on 30th August 2018, for 46 UG and PG students at Botany Lab. The career development programme by Dr. Sunu Kumar. S S , Scientific Officer, State Forensic Laboratory, Kerala, focused on the innovative and expanding field of botany within the realms of forensic biology and DNA fingerprinting.

Objectives

The primary objective of this program was to provide comprehensive knowledge and understanding of the role of botany in forensic biology. It aimed to equip participants with the necessary skills to analyze plant-based evidence and employ DNA fingerprinting techniques in forensic investigations. Another key goal was to foster critical thinking and problem-solving skills, enabling participants to apply botanical knowledge in solving complex forensic cases. The program also intended to bridge the gap between theoretical botany and its practical application in the forensic field.

Program Outline

The program is meticulously designed to cover various aspects of botany as it intersects with forensic biology. It begins with an introduction to basic botanical concepts, emphasizing their importance in forensic science. The curriculum then progresses to more advanced topics such as plant anatomy, ecology, and the critical role plants play in crime scene analysis. A significant portion of the program is dedicated to DNA fingerprinting techniques, where participants learn about the extraction and analysis of DNA from plant samples. This is complemented by the role of phytoplankton's in investigations.

Outcomes

Upon completion of the program, participants will have a solid foundation in both botanical sciences and forensic methodologies. They will be proficient in various DNA fingerprinting techniques, capable of analyzing and interpreting plant-derived evidence in a forensic context. The program is designed to enhance career prospects in forensic laboratories, environmental agencies, research institutions, and academia. Furthermore, participants will have developed a network of professionals and experts in the field, facilitating future collaborations and research opportunities.

Introduction

The Department of Botany, Mahatma Gandhi College, hosted an impactful Career Development Program, an orientation session on the CSIR-UGC examination and higher studies, meticulously conducted by Kiran Kumar R of the Life Science Academy. This event, held on 12th February 2019, was tailored for 51 enthusiastic undergraduate and postgraduate botany students.

Objectives

The primary objectives of the Career Counselling Programme on Orientation for the CSIR-UGC Examination and Higher Studies are as follows: Firstly, to provide comprehensive guidance and strategies for successfully navigating the CSIR-UGC examination, thereby enhancing students' chances of success. Secondly, to offer insights into various opportunities and pathways in higher education, particularly in fields aligned with the students' academic interests and career aspirations. Lastly, to empower students with the knowledge and resources necessary for informed decision-making regarding their academic and professional futures in the realm of higher studies and research.

Program Overview

The session began with an in-depth presentation by Kiran Kumar R, who brought his expertise and experience from the Life Science Academy to the forefront. He provided a comprehensive overview of the CSIR-UGC exam, delving into the nuances of the exam pattern, syllabus, and essential preparation strategies. This was followed by an insightful segment on higher studies in botany, covering various specializations, research opportunities, and the scope of botany in the contemporary scientific arena. The program was highly interactive, with students actively participating in question-and-answer rounds, engaging in discussions, and sharing their aspirations and concerns regarding the exam and future studies. A notable feature of the program was the distribution of curated study materials and resources by Kiran Kumar R. These resources, including study guides, sample papers, and lists of reference books, were specifically tailored to assist the students in their preparation for the CSIR-UGC exam and to explore potential areas in higher studies.

Conclusion

In conclusion, the Career Development Program effectively bridged the gap between theoretical knowledge and practical application in the field of botany, especially in preparing for competitive exams like CSIR-UGC and exploring avenues in higher education. The positive response from the student participants highlighted the success of the program, reflecting the importance of such career-oriented educational initiatives in shaping the future of young scholars.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME

Talk on Career Guidance

Apart from regular tutorial sessions; we conducted frequent interaction of faculty with students to collect their feedback regarding the activities of the department. One of the suggestions received from the first-year students is their lack of awareness in career opportunities. Based on their feedback we have decided to conduct an interactive session for students on 27/02/2023. This session was handled by Shri A V Satheesh, Scientist, Kudankulam Power Corporation of India Ltd. Mr Satheesh spoke about the career opportunities in nuclear powerplant. He also presented a clear picture regarding institutions offering higher studies in Chemistry. Students expressed their queries during the session and Shri Satheesh respond to all questions. The programme was coordinated by Dr Nitha L P and attended by 60 participants.

Outcome: The programme was well received by students, especially first year students. This programme gave them an opportunity to know about their future opportunities both in job sector as well as for further studies. Students were benefited by the knowledge about various entrance exam conducted by national institutes.

The conventional wisdom holds that those who have chosen to specialise in cooperation during UG are the only ones likely to get employment in the subject. There is actually a huge amount of opportunity for employment in that sector, contrary to popular notion. The resource person, Dr. Laxmi Suresh Babu, Faculty Member, Institute of Cooperative Management in Trivandrum, filled in on the details of the same. She gave a detailed account of the current scenario of cooperative sector in Kerala and India as a whole, its job potential and equipped the students the means by which they can acquire the jobs in that field.

OBJECTIVES OF THE PROGRAMME

1. To make the participants aware of the current scenario of cooperative sector
2. To make the students aware of the job opportunities available in that field
3. To equip the students to get those jobs.

METHODOLOGY

The inaugural ceremony began at 11:30 AM with a prayer led by Acharya Anusmaranam. A welcome address was then given by Dr. Semitha R, Assistant Professor in the Department of Commerce. Head and Assistant Professor Dr. Dilcep AS delivered the presidential address (Department of Commerce). The event was inaugurated by the principal, Dr. Nanthiyath Gopalakrishnan.

Dr. Laxmi Suresh Babu, the session's resource person, then gave a talk regarding the cooperative sector and its potential for employment. The talk shed a lot of light on the subject and the vast number of potential careers open to someone with this knowledge. The session was also participatory, which was a nice touch. Dr. Pradeep Kumar N (Convenor, ED Club and Assistant Professor, Department of Commerce) offered the concluding remarks and vote of thanks.

OUTCOME AND FEEDBACK

More than sixty students showed out to the program, which featured an interactive presentation on the different job options in the Cooperative sector. The attendees benefited greatly from the detailed breakdown of the many skill sets required for the position.
